PREFACE.

NOTHING is known of the origin or early history of the Library of Gray's Inn. The first mention of it which has been found in the existing records of the Society, is in an Account, dated 1568, of certain repairs which had been done in that year, to a "Chamber by y^e Lyberary."* And it appears from several Orders of Pension made in the reign of Elizabeth, between the years 1571 and 1588, that candidates for the degree of Utter-Barrister had to perform, "at the Skreen in the Library," those exercises which were then prescribed, as a condition to their obtaining that degree. But there are no means of knowing what, or how many, books the Library then contained; although it is pretty certain that the collection must have been small, even for those days.

During the early part of the seventeenth century, however, the members of the Inn appear to have taken a very lively interest in the state of the Library, and to

* But there is no doubt that the library existed before that time, inasmuch as Robert Chaloner of Stanley,—who had been a Reader of Gray's Inn in 1521,—by his will, dated 7th July, 1555, made the following bequest, viz.—"I will that all my bookes of lawe, as well those whiche ar at Yorke as at my house, also all those whiche be at London, yf theie can be conveied, hadde, or caryed by any meanes to Grauisin, to my cosin, Robert Nowell, and then xls. in moneye to be delyvered unto the said Robert Nowell, to th' entent that he maie by cheines therewith, and fasten so manye of them in the Librarye at Grauisin as he shall thinke convenyente, and all the residue whiche are not necessarye for the said librarye my said cosin Nowell to take or gyve at his pleasure."

have added greatly to its contents by donations of books. Among the earliest of these donors were the following, viz. (in 1634) Finch, afterwards Lord Keeper, and Sir J. Banks, who was then Attorney-General, and afterwards became Chief Justice of the Common Pleas; (in 1635) Sir Richard Hutton, one of the Justices of the Common Pleas; Sir Edward Moseley, Attorney-General for the County Palatine of Lancaster; Godbolt, one of the Readers of the Society; and Francis and Nathaniel Bacon, the nephews of Lord Bacon; and (in 1636-38) Sir Dudley Digges, who was then Master of the Rolls.

By an Order of Pension made in January, 1645, it was ordered, that "Mr. Ladd and Mr. Bacon be desired to make inquiry what books, and the names, have been delivered out of the Library, and by whom and to whom such things are delivered, and the same to notify at the next Pension." By another Order of the 4th February, 1645, the first "Library-keeper" was appointed, at an annual salary of 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* And by an Order of the 4th May, 1669, the first catalogue was ordered to be made.*

The reasons for making this Catalogue, as stated on the face of the above Order, were first:—"that divers books in the Library" had "been embezzled;" and, secondly, that "divers others" were "forthwith to be brought in by Mr. Raworth, according to a former Order." The books "to be brought in by Mr. Raworth" seem to have consisted of about one hundred volumes; and this large increase to the Library was occasioned as follows. It appears, by an Order of Pension of the 8th January, 1668,

* This Catalogue has not been found.

that Raworth had been called upon to perform the office of Reader; but that, being unable to do this "by reason of some infirmities of his body then upon him," he had offered, by way of fine for his delinquency, "the sum of 200*l.*, to be paid into the Treasury of the Society for the use thereof." And it was thereupon ordered "that upon payment of the said sum of 200*l.*, the said Mr. Raworth" should "continue at the Bench, and enjoy the privileges of a Bench^{er}, and have a voice in pension as formerly." By a subsequent Order of Pension, made the 28th November, 1668, it was ordered "that 200*l.* be paid by Mr. Raworth into the Treasury, to be disposed of, viz. 100*l.* for books to the Library, and the other 100*l.* towards repairs in the walks." And, accordingly, 100*l.* of the fine thus imposed on Mr. Raworth appears to have been expended, as stated above, in the purchase of about one hundred volumes of books,—which books are now in the library, and are duly, but it would seem not quite accurately, inscribed as having been "Ex Dono Roberti Raworth, 1669."

By an Order of Pension of the 6th May, 1689, the Treasurer and two Benchers were ordered to make a fresh Catalogue, which was done accordingly. And it appears from this Catalogue, which is still in existence,* that the Library then consisted of about 320 volumes,—by far the larger number of which, however, were not law books.

To remedy this, it was ordered, on the 10th February, 1719, "that Mr. Treasurer do examine the books in the

* It will be found at the end of Vol. II. of the "Book of Orders."

Library, and do treat with booksellers for the exchange of such of them as he shall think unnecessary, for such as may be more useful to this Society." And by an Order of the 10th February, 1725, it was referred to a Committee of the Bench, "to see what books are necessary to complete the Library as to all law books," and "to provide the Library with such as they shall see wanting, or necessary to complete the same as aforesaid, against the first Pension in the next Term."

The result of these Orders seems to have been to make it necessary to provide additional accommodation for the books. And, accordingly, on the 23rd June, 1737,—up to which time the Library was, so far as we can learn, merely a chamber in the Inn,—an Order of Pension was passed for building the Library in Holborn Court* (now South Square), which some of the present members of the Inn are old enough to remember.

The first printed Catalogue was issued in 1872; and two Supplements have been added, one in 1874, and the other in 1878.

Such are a few memoranda, as to the History of the Library of this Society. What its present state is, will appear from the following pages.

“FLOREAT!”

* This building seems to have been completed in 1739. And Maitland, in his History of London,—the first edition of which was published in that year,—says that, at the time he wrote, Gray's Inn Library was "kept in Coney Court,—which, according to Stow, formed the western side of what is now Gray's Inn Square.
